Hello,

My name is Rebecca Miller.

I live in Lee NH.

I have myself witnessed police officers in Rochester NH brutalized 3 different people.

My cure for this would be as follows:

Police officers carry their own liability insurance like contractors, painters, plumbers, teachers, lawyers, Doctors, electricians Etc. ETC.

Since "good" cops get fired or are ostracized for reporting on "bad cops" . Let the insurance companies police them. If a police officer has too many complaints the insurance company will drop said officer. They become uninsurable therefore unemployable. Personal responsibility is the only way to change this behavior. Each individual police officer will be in charge of their own actions.

As of now, they rarely get fired, let alone charged with a crime. They are far more likely to get fired for reporting bad behavior.

A step further would be to have the billions in law suits settled directly from the police pension fund. Nothing motivates people to pice each other as quickly as the loss of money. If all cops were going to lose money because of the actions of "a few bad apples " I believe the policy of covering up brutality for other officers would do a 180 in very little time.

I know you will have questions concerning funding etc. Feel free to reach out to me

Thank you for your time
