

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

CHRISTOPHER T. SUNUNU
Governor

March 30, 2020

Dear Educator,

As you begin your second week of remote learning with students, I wanted to take this opportunity to thank you for everything that you are doing to ensure our students continue to receive the quality education they deserve.

New Hampshire's educators are critical to our COVID-19 response and each of you has risen to the challenge. I appreciate that the steps we have taken to implement remote learning have presented both opportunities and challenges - but you have made this experience as productive and positive as possible. All of us in state government have been inspired by your perseverance and creativity under difficult circumstances. You have truly risen to the occasion.

On behalf of our entire state, I want to thank all of you for your hard work and commitment. I know that the passion with which you have embraced this new learning environment is the same one that you bring to your classrooms every day, but your cooperation and dedication during this epidemic has been immensely helpful to our students, administrators and families.

We have and will continue to take steps that keep you and your students safe, which means removing barriers to make remote learning as successful, and as least stressful, for you as possible.

Please do not hesitate to contact the New Hampshire Department of Education if there is anything that we can do to help you or if you have ideas on how to improve the remote learning experience.

Thank you and stay safe,
